6. Proof of identity

You may need to provide proof of identity documentation with your application to prove that you are the person entitled to the superannuation benefit.

Proof of identity is only required if your application is for:

- the payment of a pension benefit
- the payment of any part of your benefit as a lump sum payable directly to you – including your basic benefit
- the rollover of any part of your benefit to a Self Managed Super Fund (SMSF).

Note – You are not required to provide proof of identification if you are applying only for a lump sum benefit – and you are applying to rollover your entire benefit (including your basic benefit) to a complying superannuation fund, other than a self managed superannuation fund (SMSF).

If your entire benefit is being transferred to a complying superannuation fund (other than a SMSF), we are able to verify your identity through the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) using their Super TFN Integrity Check (Super TICK) service. In the event that Super TICK is unavailable or if the records we hold do not match the ATO records – identity documents may be required. Identity documents will still be required for rollovers to a SMSF.
